THE LUCKY EIGHT

The Senate Confirms the Cabinet Nominations.

THE SLATE JUST WHAT IT WAS SUPPOSED TO BE.

Blaine, Windom, Tracy, Wanamaker, Proctor, Noble, Miller and Rusk—John C. New's Bad Health Kept Him Out, But He May Get a Foreign Appointment. Foreign Comments on the Inaugural Address—Notes.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—The president sent the following nominations for cabinet officers to the senate:

For secretary of state—James G. Blaine. Secretary of the treasury—William Windom, of Minnesota.

Secretary of the navy—R. F. Tracy, of New York. Postmaster general—John Wanamaker, of Pennsylvania.

Secretary of war—Redfield Proctor, of Vermont. Secretary of the interior—John W. Noble, of Missouri.

Attorney general—W. H. H. Miller, of Indiana. Secretary of agriculture—Jeremiah Rusk, of Wisconsin.

The nominations were confirmed.

Why New Was Kept Out. INDIANAPOLIS, March 6.—A late friend of Harrison said it is known to a few only that

John C. New, during his recent New York visit, received a slight paralytic stroke. This solemn warning put an end to his cabinet ambition. His physicians impressed upon him in the strongest terms the danger of again embarking in any laborious and responsible duties such as would be necessary if he accepted an office at Washington.

If New is honored at all, it will be in the shape of a foreign appointment, either in Spain, Rome or southern France, where the climate is mild and invigorating and the duties of minor importance. He says further, that Chairman Huston will be treasurer of the United States or assistant postmaster general. Porter is booked for Russia, he says. Harrison will enforce the civil service law. Few changes will be made, but Harrison said to him that he would waste little politeness and time in dismissing a number of the occupants of the higher places.

Foreign Comments.

LONDON, March 6.—The Post, commenting on President Harrison's inaugural address, commends the absence of bombast, which gives evidence of another element of universal accord.

The Daily News says the address is remarkable for its numerous allusions to foreign matters, and thinks the world may soon have to reckon with a new naval power.

The Times professes to find indications of Mr. Blaine's foreign policy in the president's address, but does not think the financial views expressed are very clear.

The Standard regards the address as disappointing and evidently not written to please the Anglo-Saxons on this side of the Atlantic.

The Telegraph finds nothing alarming in the address but on the contrary a disposition on the part of the new administration to deal fairly with foreign nations.

The Chronicle remarks that there is nothing in it to enlist the sympathies of Englishmen.

Morton in the Senate Chamber.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—When Vice President Morton entered the senate chamber at noon he was greeted with loud applause from the galleries. He rapped for order several times and the senators rose to participate in the prayer which was offered by the senate chaplain, Mr. Butler. There was a good attendance. A few new figures occupied seats.

When the prayer was concluded, Secretary McCook read the journal of Monday, which was approved. The committee appointed to notify the president then appeared in the center aisle and Senator Edmunds, the chairman, announced that the committee had notified the president and that he would communicate with the senate in writing in a very short time. The senate chamber was quiet after this incident for several minutes.

Then Senator Cockrell offered a resolution, which he asked to have laid on the table, authorizing the appointment of a special committee of five to examine into the methods of the executive departments. Mr. Morgan made a point of order against the resolution, which he said he would reserve for future discussion.

There was another pause and then Mr. Stewart offered a resolution declaring it the sense of the senate that the secretary of the treasury should purchase $4,000,000 billion for silver coinage. A point of order was made against this also, Mr. Frye objecting to the present consideration of the resolution and it went over.

Mr. Blair offered the credentials of Mr. Marston, the new senator from New Hampshire. Mr. Vest said that he would not object to their reception although he doubted the constitutionality of the act of the governor in making the appointment.

At 12:25 Mr. Pruden, one of the secretaries of the president, appeared at the door of the senate chamber. He was recognized, and delivered a message from the president of the United States. Immediately after the senate, on motion of Mr. Hale, went into executive session. At 12:48 the senate adjourned.

Clearing Day at the House. WASHINGTON, March 6.—It was clearing day at the house. The ex-members were removing their papers from their desks in the hall and from the closets and tables in the committee rooms, while those who are returned to the next congress were arranging their papers in order for ready reference when they return. The floor of the house was occupied by visitors and the galleries were filled by a constantly moving crowd of sight-seers. Messrs. Cannon and Reed were the only prospective candidates for the speakership present, and they were occupied for several hours in answering correspondence and in receiving friends.

Resigned.

DALLAS, Tex., March 6.—W. S. Cabell, the Democratic marshal for the northern district of Texas, Monday forwarded his resignation to President Harrison to take effect at once. He is a way-back Democrat, and could not stand the new order of things.

SPORTING NEWS.

Bartlett Defeats Cushing—Wrestling Match in Milwaukee—Notes.

NEW YORK, March 6.—Mike Cushing, of Brooklyn, and Henry Bartlett, of Somers-town, England, fought at Clifton, N. J., for the 126-pound championship and $500 a side. At the end of the fourteenth round Bartlett held up his hands, saying: "That's enough; I'm licked." The sporting fraternity were very much disappointed in the Englishman. Cushing did all the leading, and had the best of the fighting throughout. Cushing gained first blood in the fourth round, and Bartlett won first knockdown. Neither was badly punished. About $7,000 changed hands on the result.

Wrestling Match.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., March 6.—Sam. Conners, champion catch-as-catch-can wrestler of England, and D. A. McMillan, of this city, wrestled in the Grand opera house here Monday evening. The match was under catch-as-catch-can rules, three falls out of five, for $100 a side and 65 per cent. of the gate receipts. After wrestling over three hours with no result, the referee at 11:39 o'clock, declared the match a draw.

Six Rounds Settled It.

CHICAGO, March 6.—Jim Duffy, a Chicago pugilist, and Patsy Mallon, of Minneapolis, fought to a finish with two ounce gloves Monday night at Longwood, a station twelve miles out on the Rock Island. Mallon was knocked out of time in the sixth round. Duffy weighed 170 pounds and Mallon 182. The fight was very even until the sixth round when Mallon received a blow on the throat and another on the neck that laid him out.

Accused of the Umberger Murder.

LIGONIER, Pa., March 6.—Deputies O'Connor and Rauch arrested Joseph and David Nicely at their homes, four miles south of here, Monday evening on suspicion of having been connected with the Umberger murder and robbery. A search of the premises was made, but nothing that would indicate their guilt was found. The prisoners claim they will have no trouble in proving an alibi. They were taken to the Umberger residence for identification. The accused are well connected.

Went Out With His Namesake.

OMAHA, Neb., March 6.—Grover Cleveland Stademan died in this city shortly after noon Monday. He was born the day the president was in Omaha, a year ago last October, and was named after the distinguished visitor, who, upon being informed of the advent of his namesake, acknowledged the compliment in a letter signed by himself and Mrs. Cleveland. The child's father, who was constable, was killed a short time afterward while making an arrest.

Foam From Crude Oil.

WARASH, Ind., March 6.—A strange phenomenon in connection with the flow of oil into the Wabash river, caused by a break in the Lima and Chicago pipe line, is the fact that great stacks of foam, some of them twenty feet long and very high, have formed on one side of the river. There are hundreds of these stacks, and nothing like it has been seen before on the stream. The opinion prevails that the crude oil has formed a suds, thus creating the foam.

Prevalence of Diphtheria.

PITTSBURGH, March 6.—The Times, St. Petersburg, Pa., special says: "Diphtheria of a violent and malignant type is prevailing here to such an extent that the town council has issued an ordinance closing all churches, schools and singing classes, and forbidding the holding of any public meeting. St. Petersburg is an oil town, twenty-four miles from Oil City, and the country between here and there is all afflicted with the same disease."

A Shoemaker Mayor.

WATERLOO, Iowa, March 6.—The city election here took a surprising turn. The regular nominee for mayor was a prominent attorney. A shoemaker, who is also junior of one of the banks, came out as an independent candidate. It was supposed that this was for a joke, but the Knights of Labor and the Illinois Central shopped him their support and he was elected by a majority of over 1,000.

Quarreled With His Mistress.

HELENA, Mont., March 6.—Joe Anderson, a driver, quarreled with his mistress Sunday night and the woman threw a lighted lamp in his face. The oil exploded, and Anderson's eyes were burned out and his face disfigured. He may die. The woman is in jail.

NEW YORK, March 6.—John D. Rockefeller has given $100,000 to the American Baptist Education society, payable at the rate of $10,000 a month, and subject to the condition that the gift shall be notified in advance of the use to be made of his money.

Fell Three Hundred Feet.

PLATTSBURG, N. Y., March 6.—William Grime, a miner, while working at the mouth of the open mine at Lion mountain Monday, slipped on the ice and fell to the bottom of the shaft 300 feet below. He was instantly killed.

A GOOD EXAMPLE

Set By the South American Republic of Chili

WHICH UNCLE SAM WOULD DO WELL TO FOLLOW.

Substantial Encouragement Given to a New Line of Great Steamships—A Wonderful Development of Commerce Naturally Follows—It Would Also Be a Good Thing in Case of War.

NEW YORK, March 6.—An event of great importance in its relation to the commerce between this country and the west coast of South America is the recent subsidizing of a new line of coast steamships by the Chilean government. Until within a few years the entire foreign transportation and coastwise trade between Chili, Peru and Ecuador was monopolized by the Pacific Steam Navigation company, an English corporation plying between Valparaiso and Panama.

This corporation was started fifty years ago by William Wheelwright, an American, with English capital, after having vainly tried to enlist American capital in the enterprise. And no other agency has been so potent in the last half century in diverting the trade of the three countries named into English channels as has the Pacific Steam Navigation company.

Its history has been one of unbroken financial prosperity. Having a monopoly of the trade, it taxed it all it would stand, and with a connecting line of trans-oceanic steamers between Valparaiso and Liverpool, succeeded in establishing the supremacy of England in the trade of the countries named. But the intense National spirit of the Chileans always chafed at the prominence of the British ensign in the shipping of their harbors, and, having become the foremost naval power in the southern hemisphere, Chili aspired to become independent of the foreign element in her mercantile marine.

A few years ago a Chilean company began the organization of a new line of steamers, called the South American Steamship company, for the transaction of a coastwise trade between Valparaiso and Panama. The steamers belonging to the company were built with special design for this trade and have all the improvements applied to the latest steamship construction, including water-tight bulkheads and electric lights. They are of steel and iron, built in Scotland especially for the South American Steamship company, and are designed to accommodate from 100 to 150 first-class passengers.

Those now running on the line are the Mapouch, Laga, Cachapual, Malpo, Lautaro, Mazouhi and Itata and all of them fly the Chilean ensign. Two more are in process of construction, one of which, the Imperial, built by Laird Brothers, at Birkenhead, is already ready for delivery, and the other, the Aconcagua, building at Glasgow, will be completed very soon. Altogether they are the most beautiful and convenient boats on the west coast, and they have sailed into popularity, as it were, not only in Chili, but among the people of Peru and Ecuador as well.

In January the Chilean government entered into contracts with the company by which certain exclusive rights were acquired by the company, together with a subsidy that will amount to between $100,000 and $150,000 a year; in consideration for which the company is to keep up a regular fortnightly service between Valparaiso and Panama without transshipment of passengers or freight.

This will insure a regular line of transportation between this country and the countries of South America, in connection with the Pacific Mail Steamship company and the Panama railway, and since the company has materially reduced the rates of freight and passengers on its route and is catering especially for the American trade, there is every reason to expect a present development of the commerce between the countries.

The South American countries send cocoa, hides, goat skins, rubber, dye woods and coffee to the United States in exchange for the long line of manufactures known as Yankee notions and dry goods, lard, petroleum and canned goods.

The American agents for the line, from whom the reporter received the information, say the experience of the company has already demonstrated the wisdom and patriotism of its founders, for it has already largely increased the commerce of Chili and the other countries on the west coast of South America, and has made Chili practically independent of English influences in the foreign trade, while it has placed at her disposal a fleet of a dozen stanch and fast steamers that can at a small expense and small waste of time be converted into cruisers and transports in case of emergency.

Chili is also developing her railway system with rapidity, and only recently an American firm supplied two of the roads with Pacific mail sleeping cars that were shipped by the Pacific Mail-Panama route from this city and from Panama by the South American steamship line.

Mary Washington's Grave.

FREDERICKSBURG, March 6.—Citizens of this city held a mass meeting Monday evening to consider the rumored sale of the land in which lies buried the body of Mary Washington. Resolutions were adopted denouncing such sale and pledging the people of the city to erect a monument over the grave. Mr. Shepherd, owner of the land, denied that he had taken any steps whatever looking to the sale of the property, and had authorized no such steps by any other person. In addition he voluntarily gave a sixty days option for the purchase of the land for $2,500.

F. T. Wheeler and Lucius S. Fisher, stockholders of the Pullman Iron and Steel company, filed a bill in the superior court at Chicago yesterday asking for the appointment of a receiver for that concern. The company is in debt to the amount of $300,000, of which $180,000 is owing to Pullman Palace Car company, which kept the iron and steel company running when it was in an insolvent condition.

There are but six large and two small ones, besides those for the servants, and only two of the rooms are provided with dressing-rooms. In the make up of President Harrison's Cabinet the South got—left. But that's all right.

The young men of Paris are organizing a gymnasium, and have forty members already enrolled.

Those Senators who held their noses when confirming President Harrison's Cabinet were probably thinking of Blaine and Wanamaker at the time.

It has been observed, of course, that Colonel Bradley is not a member of the new Cabinet. He was probably rejected because he was not strong enough timber.

"HONORABLE party services will certainly not be esteemed by me as a disqualification for public office."—Harrison's inaugural.

This is no doubt very comforting to Brother Davis. He did some very effective work for his party in this district in the last campaign.

The Republicans of Ohio will have to look elsewhere for funds to help them out of their financial straits. They won't get that $1,500,000 which they expected through the Direct Tax bill. Cleveland knocked them out of that.

THERE is strong talk, we learn, of moving Bracken's court house from Brooksville to Augusta.—Bourbon News.

We've been hearing such talk almost ever since we heard of Brooksville. Give us some fresh "chestnuts," Brother Champ.

The total wealth of Cleveland and his Cabinet amounted to but little more than $3,000,000. The wealth of Harrison and Morton and the Cabinet announced yesterday amounts to about $30,000,000.

Cleveland's administration was an administration "of the people, for the people and by the people." It looks like Harrison's is to be an administration of the millionaires, for the millionaires and by the millionaires.

"THE war is on" between the followers of Foraker and the other crowd of Republicans over in Ohio. General Beatty belongs to the "other crowd," and in a recent interview he handles the Governor without gloves. Referring to the rebel flag episode he says Foraker's language was "wholly irrelevant and nonsensical," even though it was "regarded by the common run of fools as the brilliant scintillation of a great political genius." This is as tough on the Governor's admirers as it is on the Governor himself.

PRESIDENT HARRISON hasn't pleased a great many people in selecting his Cabinet. One can judge from the following how it is regarded in Washington City. McBride, the Enquirer correspondent, a Republican himself, refers to it as follows:

Generally it is viewed with apprehension and disfavor. It will be promptly confirmed by the Senate, but some of the Senators will hold their noses in the cloakroom while it is being done. If it fails the President alone will have himself to bear the burden, as he has disregarded utterly the advice and even threats of the leaders of the party.

Mr. Blaine, the Secretary of the State, has a National reputation but not a very creditable one. He is not looked upon by the public as an honest and pure man, politically.

Windom, Secretary of the Treasury, and Wanamaker, Postmaster General, are about the only ones, aside from Blaine, the people have heard much of. And Wanamaker will always be regarded as having bought his position by contributions to the corruption fund of his party.

As for the rest, who is B. F. Tracy? Who is Redfield Proctor? Who is William Henry Harrison Miller? Who is J. M. Rusk? Who is John Willcock Noble?

THE TOBACCO QUESTION.

A Communication That Will Prove Interesting to the Growers of the Weed.

White burley tobacco had its origin near Higginsport, O. The first burley ever grown in Kentucky was grown near the town of Dover, in Mason County, the vivacious, venerable and veracious General John S. Williams to the contrary notwithstanding. The facts proving this were published many years ago, with names and dates, in the "Maysville Republican," in a paper at Flemingsburg, and in the "Country Gentleman," at Albany, N. Y., and copied in various papers throughout the country, one of which at least was read in London, England. This species was first known in the market as Mason County tobacco, the district in which it was grown was known as the Mason County district, and this district for a long time maintained a monopoly of the growth of this tobacco, and still maintains its superiority as to both quantity and quality of the article grown. The seed planted in the upper counties was mostly obtained from Mason, and many raisers and tenants were induced to go to other counties, notably to Montgomery, to introduce and superintend the culture of this new species of the weed, which at that time commanded high prices and made modest fortunes for many successful growers. Owing to this, larger and larger areas were planted. It was found that almost any limestone land in the State would grow white tobacco. Inexperienced men attempted it; careless culture and more careless handling resulted; quantity instead of quality became the rule; the seed was allowed to deteriorate; many small raisers, principally negroes, devoted a large part of their crop to seed, without any regard to the proper selection of seed-bearing plants; the merchants eagerly bought up this tobacco seed without due inquiry as to where it came from, paying for it in trade and selling it as pure white burley seed. Almost every groceryman in Maysville had some of the seed, and some of them had enough to plant the whole State in tobacco; the result of all these things was inevitable; a continuous and ever increasing departure from the type of the original species, and a like deterioration in the quality of the product,—commoner grades bringing lower prices, and according to well understood rules depreciated the value of the entire crop grown. In some years owing to the enormous acreage and extra favorable seasons the supply exceeded the demand. Then the trade in tobacco became largely speculative; dealers and middlemen were enabled to control the markets to the detriment of the interests alike of the grower and consumer. For these and many other reasons the price of tobacco has fallen to such an extent, that it is alleged by producers that it is no longer profitable to raise it at present prices. This involves great loss to those who, by reason of changing their modes of farming, by the building of large and well-equipped barns, and in other ways have invested large sums of money to enable them to grow and market tobacco. Many remedies are suggested to relieve this state of affairs, the most popular of which seems to be a combination of growers to reduce the acreage planted—either to plant none for a season, or to reduce the acreage planted on each farm by some definite rule or regulation.

Without wishing in the least to discount the action of the Lexington convention, the writer respectfully submits his opinion that for the present, at least, this scheme is impracticable and predicts its failure; 1st. Tobacco is generally grown on the share or tenant system; contracts for the coming season have already been made with tenants, the acreage allotted, necessary supplies purchased and in many instances plowing and fencing done and the seed beds already planted. 2nd. The plan suggested, while it might not greatly interfere with the landlord, is manifestly unfair to the tenant. A vast majority of the tenants raise little else besides tobacco. Upon this crop they depend to clothe, shelter, feed and educate their families. They have made their contracts and secured their advancements accordingly. Many of them know how to do nothing else but grow and handle tobacco. They are generally poor men with large families. They rely mainly upon their families and children to cultivate the tobacco to maturity and prepare it for market, and these children, both boys and girls, whose labor for a part of the year at least is an absolute necessity for the support of the family, cannot find any other employment. 3rd. It will be impossible to secure unanimity of action, and without this the scheme is a manifest failure. A great number of growers, to whom the writer has talked, say they intend to raise just as much tobacco as they please. They will sign no agreement, and some of them resent the idea as an unwarrantable interference with their management of their personal affairs. 4th. Many of those who sign the agreement will seek the first opportunity to violate it. There are cunning, designing, greedy and dishonest men in all walks of life, among the agriculturists of the God-made country, as well as among the denizens of the much-maligned, man-made town. Greed of gain will overcome conscientious scruples, and not a few of those who sign an agreement will, with the idea of higher prices prevailing, not only not diminish but covertly increase their acreage; and when caught at it, laugh at it as a sharp trick, well knowing that there is no practical means of enforcing a strict compliance with their agreement. 5th. For obvious reasons, those who refuse to enter into the agreement will increase their acreage.

These facts may seem unpalatable, Mr. Editor, to some, but they are nevertheless true. We, therefore, conclude that this tobacco combine is impracticable. The tobacco interests, like all others, must be left to be governed in the end by the ordinary laws of supply and demand. When the farmer and the tenant learn by sharp experience that the culture of tobacco is unprofitable, they will voluntarily decrease their acreage. Self-interest, the great motor in human affairs, will lead them not to "put all their eggs in one basket," as it were. It will drive them to a more diversified system of farming, which, of itself, will be of incalculable benefit to our country, and this the farmers will accomplish of their own volition, and without the idea, erroneous tho' it be, of any sort of compulsion, which is so distasteful to so many of our people.

Meanwhile, the following suggestions may be recommended as valuable: Greater care in the selection of plants for seed; the destruction or separation of abnormal plants or hybrids; better preparation of land and more thorough culture at all stages of its growth; and greater, oh, far greater, care in the handling of tobacco from the time it is cut till it is placed on the market.

To those who have them, I recommend a careful re-perusal of the articles on the "Origin and Culture of White Burley Tobacco," published by the writer some twelve or fifteen years ago, and a comparison of the suggestions then made with the facts as they exist to-day. The writer may in the future express his further views as to the best way to ameliorate the present condition of tobacco growers, especially in this locality. It may be interesting to state here, that one of the best crops of tobacco in all respects marketed in Maysville in recent years, and which brought an extra high price, was grown from seed furnished by the writer, and known by him to be over fourteen years old. The seed was planted more to test its vitality than for any other purpose, and as for the result I respectfully refer to Mr. Laughorn Tabb, an experienced grower and handler, then with Cooper, Baldwin & Co., Maysville, Ky.

Hoping this article may set others to thinking, induce them to give their experience and express their opinions, and that by the comparison of ideas truth may be obtained and good result to those interested, I am, yours sincerely,

G.

MR. LEACH SETTLES.

Everything Squared Up and a Certified Check Given for the Balance Due the City.

The accounts of Mr. C. S. Leach late City Treasurer, have been squared, and a certified check given for every cent due the city.

It was announced some days since that satisfactory arrangements had been made for a settlement of the business, and Mr. Leach informed the President of the council last week that he was ready at any time to meet the proper authorities and square up his accounts.

The committee to whom the matter was referred at last session of the council, met yesterday afternoon, and a full and complete settlement was effected. The amount due on first examination was $4,353.16. It was learned afterwards that Mr. Leach was entitled to a credit of $2.26. This was deducted and a certified check from Mr. Leach was then turned over to the committee for the balance—$4,350.90.

The committee will report the settlement to the City Council to-morrow night, and will recommend that Mr. Leach be paid his salary for the month of January, amounting to $42.

As some of the committee remarked, this is a much more satisfactory way of settling the business, than by hurrying into a law suit or resorting to other stringent measures.

THOMPSON-McATEE NUPTIALS.

A Quiet Wedding at the Christian Church Yesterday Afternoon.

The marriage of Mr. A. H. Thompson and Miss Hoddie McAtee at the Christian Church yesterday afternoon was attended by a large crowd of the friends and relatives of the contracting parties. The nuptial ceremony was solemnized at 3 o'clock by Rev. R. B. Garrett, pastor of the Baptist Church.

Messrs. H. C. McDougle, John C. Adamson, J. Barbour Russell and R. P. Jenkins acted as ushers. Miss Grace Paddock presided at the organ, and rendered the wedding march.

The bride was attired in a neat traveling costume of light brown Henrietta, with iridescent trimmings. The groom wore the conventional black.

The couple were passengers on the C. & O. train at 4 o'clock for Cincinnati, where they will spend a few days in the enjoyment of the honeymoon, after which they will return and take up their residence at the northwest corner of Third and Sutton streets.

Why it is One Sweet Melody Will Charm.

Mr. J. B. Melody, of 333 State street, Chicago, had drawn a handsome prize in the Louisiana State Lottery Drawing of December 18th. He said: "Yes, I held one-fortieth of ticket No. 48,744, which drew the second capital prize of $200,000 in the company's drawing of December 18th last. I experienced no trouble in getting my money, all that was required being to present my ticket at the office of Adams Express Company and be properly identified. Four days after I had the $5,000 in my pocket."—Chicago (Ill.) Arkansas Traveler, Jan. 12.

Death of Mrs. Mollie Gordon.

Mrs. Mollie Gordon, nee Clarke, died at 1:30 o'clock this morning at her home in Wichita, Kan., after a lingering illness. A telegram at a late hour brought the sad intelligence to her sister, Mrs. James H. Rogers.

The deceased was a native of this city. She was a daughter Mrs. Mary Clarke, and was married a year or so ago to Mr. Harry Gordon, a prominent young attorney of Wichita. Her many friends here and elsewhere will learn of her death with sincere sorrow.

The remains will be brought to this city for interment. Due notice of the funeral will be given to-morrow.

A Small Blaze.

The Maysville Gas Company's works on West Second street were discovered on fire about 5 o'clock last evening. There was some little delay in giving the alarm, and Messrs. Pat Cullen, James Simpson and others near by succeeded in extinguishing the flames before the fire department reached the scene.

The origin of the blaze is a mystery. It started in what is known as the meter-room, a small apartment that is kept locked most all the time, the Superintendent, Mr. Simpson, being about the only one who ever enters it. Nobody had been about the room for some time. It is thought there was a small leak, which finally ignited, from a jet that is kept burning, and set fire to some papers. The damage was trifling.

The Brooklyn Citizen, in speaking of "Little Nugget" says the performance is sprinkled with songs, dances and specialties, forming an entertainment that is pleasing and interesting. At opera house to night.

You are specially invited to call at Bal-lenger's and see those lovely diamond pins, rings, bracelets and earrings. They are perfect gems, and have just been received. Some elegant diamond studs are also in the stock.

PIGOTT'S DEATH

Regarded as a Disaster to the English Government,

AS THERE IS MUCH WHICH HE ALONE COULD EXPLAIN.

The Informer's Papers to Be Used as Evidence By the Parnell Commission—Emperor William Does a Good Deed—American Harvesting Machines Successful in Australia—Foreign Notes.

LONDON, March 6.—The Standard says the suicide of Pigott cannot be regarded otherwise than as a disaster to the government, as there is much that he alone could have explained regarding the imputations of conspiracy that must remain in obscurity. The result will be that the country will be flooded with calumnies against the ministry. The object of the Parnell commission, the Standard thinks, has been attained and the judges could give a decision on the evidence already taken.

It is stated that a letter has come to light in Madrid, addressed to Ponsonby, otherwise Pigott, regarding Mr. Shannon's promise to pay the informer money. The letter is said to contain important evidence concerning the responsibility for Pigott's escape. It is remarked ominously that Pigott committed suicide on Friday in room No. 13.

A large number of dispatches have passed between the government and the British embassy at Madrid concerning the disposition of Pigott's effects.

The informer's papers have been ordered into the custody of a special detective now in Madrid and they will be put in evidence before the Parnell commission on Thursday.

Appealed to the Emperor.

LONDON, March 6.—A few days ago Emperor William received a letter from a girl living in Dinsburg, Rhenish Prussia, stating that her father was a hopeless invalid, and that she and her three sisters, comprising the rest of the family, were deaf and dumb, and therefore unable to obtain employment necessary to support them. The writer, as a last resort, prayed that his majesty would send them a sewing machine, by the use of which they could sustain themselves. The emperor ordered a machine to be sent to them immediately.

America Beats 'Em All.

MELBOURNE, March 6.—The prizes of the world's exposition have been awarded and the American machine—the McCormick—won the grand gold medal in competition with all English, American and Canadian manufacturers. The McCormick alone was given special mention for simplicity and new devices. This American machine has won thirty-three first prizes at the various field trials during the Australian harvest now past, and in no instance suffering defeat, and has spread consternation among the English manufacturers, who are struggling to enter the Australian market.

A Remarkable Contrast.

BERLIN, March 6.—The North German Gazette, referring to what it calls a remarkable contrast between the utterances of the American newspapers published in English and those of the German-American papers, charges the former with bringing groundless accusations against Germany, and placing events in Samoa in such a light as to make Klein's "criminality" appear as heroism, while the German-American press points out the moderation of Germany.

After quoting the opinion of the latter to the effect that the hostility to the Germans is due to the hatred and envy of a section of the American population, especially the Irish portion, the North German Gazette says: "These Irish-Americans are doubtless animated by envy and hatred at seeing how well the Germans can earn their bread. The German is more contented and industrious than the Irishman, and this is the reason for his unpopularity in America. To the aversion felt by a section of the American people toward modest and industrious competitors is due their dislike of Germans and their persecution of the Chinese."

Gladstone's Hope.

NEW YORK, March 6.—Edmund Yates says that Gladstone entertains a strong belief in his return to power being almost imminent. One day last week he was discovered in a well known London drawing-room deep in the pages of the morning Post, which is carefully tabooed in James street, while waiting for the mistress of the house. On putting the paper down he recognized his fellow caller, and said cheerily: "I must come in. Lord Salisbury and the Times will fall together."

Willing to Arbitrate With Us.

COPENHAGEN, March 6.—The minister for foreign affairs has submitted for the approval of the rigging a convention with the United States, dated December 6, declaring that the Butterfield claim for compensation shall be settled by arbitration.

Prussia's Alliance With Greece.

BERLIN, March 6.—The Post says that Princess Sophie, of Prussia, will be formally betrothed by proxy to the crown prince of Greece, in Berlin, entering Greece with the position of crown princess. Prince Henry will act as bridegroom.

Three Governors in West Virginia.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., March 6.—Nathan Goff, Republican, and President R. S. Carr, of the state senate, Union Labor, took the oath of office of governor of this state and made formal demand upon Governor Wilson to vacate, but that gentleman refused, and referred the two aspirants to the courts to decide who shall hold office pending the contest between Goff and Fleming. The outcome is anxiously looked forward to. Everything passed off peacefully and no trouble is anticipated.

Collapse of a Montreal Planing Mill.

MONTREAL, March 6.—At 11:30 Monday morning the roof of the large planing mill of Lapham & Company, at the corner of Phillips and Dorchester streets, in this city, suddenly fell in, and three of the four walls fell outward. Twelve to eighteen workmen inside were completely buried in the ruins. Three men have been taken out, none of them fatally, but all seriously injured. It is not known how many are in the ruins.

Must Have an Advance.

FALL RIVER, Mass., March 6.—The Weavers' union Monday night unanimously voted to strike unless an advance of wages is granted before March 11.

THREE TONS OF POWDER EXPLODE

At Acton, Massachusetts—One Man Blown to Atoms.

MAYNARD, Mass., March 6.—The kernelling mill, a wooden structure, containing twenty barrels, or about three tons of powder, at the works of the American powder mills at Acton, was blown up shortly after 8 a. m. Monday. Of the fifty employees of the concern, the only one killed was Douglas H. Livingston, who two years ago, came to the mills from Xenia, O. He was blown to atoms and shreds of his body were scattered in every direction. The kernelling mill and the dry house, which stood near it, were entirely destroyed. Henry Newcomb, who was working in the dry house at the time, escaped uninjured.

What caused the explosion is unknown. No definite estimate of the loss to the company can be given, but it is thought to be in the vicinity of $5,000. Throughout this town much window glass was broken by the explosion. At Hudson, six miles away, the shock was distinctly felt, windows and doors shaking perceptibly. There have been ten previous explosions at the Acton mills.

College Students Fight.

BOSTON, March 6.—John B. Van Schaick, of New York, S. C. Manley, of Augusta, Me., and about a dozen other Harvard students became involved in a free fight with some Cambridge boys on a horse car early Monday morning, and several of the fighters were arrested. Van Schaick was the only one captured however, and he was released after paying a fine of $20. The trouble in the street car began when a woman passenger accidentally dropped some oranges on the floor. The students gathered up the oranges and kept them. The woman became angry and slapped the face of Henshaw, the catcher of the Harvard base ball team.

Confederate Cavalry Veterans.

NEW ORLEANS, March 6.—At the second reunion of the veterans of the Confederate cavalry Monday Gen. W. H. Jackson was elected president of the association. About two hundred members were present, including Gens. E. Kirby Smith and G. T. Beauregard. Jefferson Davis, his wife and daughter were elected as honorary members of the association. During the meeting Miss Winnie Davis came into the hall and was received with great enthusiasm. The association, after a banquet in the evening, adjourned to meet again next March.

Swinging Harness Patent Sustained.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 6.—Judges Brewer and Phillips handed down a decision in the United States circuit court Monday, in which it is decided that the Hale swinging harness patent is not an infringement on the Sullivan patent. This is a victory for George Hale, the inventor, who is the chief of the fire department in this city.

Suicided With a Gun.

AUBURN, N. Y., March 6.—A young man named Wilson Carter, residing in the town of Fleming, suicided at his home Monday by shooting. No cause is known.

BASE BALL MEETING.

Representatives of the American Association met at Columbus, Ohio.

COLUMBUS, O., March 6.—The American Base Ball association meets at the Neil house to-day. The following representatives are present: Byrne and Doyle, of Brooklyn; Speas and Krauthoff, of Kansas City; Stern and Schmelz, of Cincinnati; Sharsig and Whittaker, of the Athletics; Born, A. Cohen and Lazarus, of Columbus.

The representatives of Baltimore, St. Louis and Louisville are expected. The committee on constitutional revision met and formulated their report which will probably be submitted to-day. It is rumored that they will do nothing with the proposed classification of players.

The National Scorer's association will also meet here to-day. It comprises representatives from the press of the leading cities of the country.

The Last Day.

In the senate the approval of bills by the president, and some unimportant legislation, occupied the time until noon, when a final adjournment was announced by the vice president pro tem, and the inaugural ceremonies were commenced with the reading of the president's message calling the senate into extra session.

In the house, the appropriation bills having all been passed, nothing was done except the passage of a resolution protesting against the senate interfering with the right of members in the capitol. A complimentary resolution was voted to Speaker Carlisle, who made a suitable reply, and declared the Fiftieth Congress adjourned sine die.

Foreign Notes.

The Imperial bank of Germany statement shows an increase of 180,000 marks in specie. The pope is preparing an important encyclical letter on the necessity for maintaining peace in Europe.

Mr. Goschen, chancellor of the exchequer, has under consideration the question of issuing one pound notes.

Capt. Bailey, alias Cook, an American swindler, in Brussels, was sentenced to six months' imprisonment at hard labor.

It is believed that 2,000 persons will be present at the proposed banquet to Mr. Parnell. Earl Spencer will probably preside.

Prince Alexander, of Battenberg, denies that he had thought of marrying Mlle Loisoninger previous to Emperor William's refusal to sanction his marriage to Princess Victoria of Prussia.

The Dublin Express says that Mr. Gladstone is considering a proposal to make a motion in the house of commons, when the debate on the government supply bill comes up, refusing to grant the supply demanded. "This will be," says the paper, "tantamount to an impeachment of the government."

Freight Train on a Tear.

MARQUETTE, Mich., March 6.—A South Shore freight train going up the heavy Front street grade in this city Monday broke in two; the rear cars ran rapidly down the hill, ran into an open switch, and finally jumped across the street into Frazer's block, knocking the whole front of Steele & Lobdel's grocery in, tearing out the corner of Pickland & Company's coal office and damaging Rothechild & Benfamin's front. No one was injured.

A Fireman's Scheme.

BOSTON, March 6.—James P. Nolan, aged twenty, a call fireman in the city fire department, has been arrested for causing several small fires, his object being to win promotion and gain steady work by his discovery of the fires and supposed vigilance. He has confessed.
